The novel tells the story of Sarah Beth Atkins, a young woman who is struggling to come to terms with the death of her beloved grandfather. Sarah Beth was very close to her grandfather, and his death has left a void in her life that she cannot seem to fill. She tries to find comfort in her friends and family, but nothing seems to help. One night, Sarah Beth sees a firefly in her backyard, and she is drawn to it. The firefly leads her to a hidden path, and she follows it until she comes to a clearing. In the clearing, Sarah

Beth finds a small, wooden box. She opens the box, and inside she finds a letter from her grandfather.

The letter is full of love and wisdom, and it helps Sarah Beth to begin to heal. She realizes that her grandfather's death was not the end, but rather a new beginning. She is now determined to live her life to the fullest, and to honor her grandfather's memory.

The Last Firefly is a beautifully written and deeply moving novel. Demarco's writing is lyrical and evocative, and her characters are unforgettable. This is a must-read for fans of literary fiction.
